About the John Denson Pool at Wilson Park

In the 1950's, Mr. Wilson, a local advocate for Recreation and Parks, requested that the City Commission build a center in the northeast neighborhood.

The pool was built in 1956 and the Wilson Center Complex, including a small recreation center and ball fields, was built in 1961.

In 2007, an all new Wilson Park was constructed with improvements including basketball courts, a multi-purpose field, playground, a two-story center and pool renovation. The improvements were funded by Palm Beach County, which designated $1,000,000 for renovations from the $50 M Recreation and Cultural Facilities Bond issue approved by voters in 2003, and by the City of Boynton Beach.

The Grand Opening of Carolyn Sims Community Center and John Denson Aquatic Facility at Wilson Park was held on Saturday, February 9, 2008.
